School Ends For Four Salem Teachers

Retirement Comes To Veterans With Long Tenure

To four teachers in the Salem Public School system, the closing of the 1960-61 school year this week meant something more than the usual three-month vacation to look forward to or perhaps a temporary summer job.

These four teachers — Mrs. Alta Peterson, Miss Lois Lehman, Mrs. Ruth DeMers and Mrs. Helen Mulbach — are now officially retired after completing a combined total of 136 years in the teaching profession.

From point of service, Mrs. Peterson is the senior member of this group. She is retiring after 44½ years as a teacher. All but four and half of those years were spent in the Salem Public School system as a teacher and principal.

eventually becoming principal there.

In 1931, Mrs. Peterson was transferred to Fourth Street School. There she doubled as principal and fourth grade teacher for 17 years. Mrs. Peterson still recalls some of the problems involved in her dual role at Fourth Street. Many times each day her fourth grade class would be interrupted by the telephone in the cloakroom ringing for the principal.

When Buckeye School was opened in 1948, Mrs. Peterson was asked to take over the principalship there, a position she has held for the past 13 years.

As for the future, Mrs. Peterson says she is going to enjoy herself for awhile, being a "plain old dirt gardener." She also wants

Officer Faces Court Martial

Charged In Tower Fall That Killed 28

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has ordered a colonel to face a court martial in the collapse of a radar "Texas Tower" that dragged 28 men to their death in the Atlantic Ocean.

The officer, Col. William M. Banks, has been charged with being derelict in duty by failing to keep himself informed.

Banks was in command of the Boston air defense center and the tower was part of its radar network.

The court martial was ordered Friday by the air defense commander, Lt. Gen. Robert M. Lee. The Air Force indicated the military trial may convene within a week.

Charges against two other officers—Maj. William R. Sheppard and Reginald L. Stark—were dismissed. Both had been serving under Banks. Lee also dismissed a charge against Banks of culpable negligence resulting in death. Banks is from Raleigh, W.Va.

The tower, officially known as by its crew as "old shaky," buckled and sank in an Atlantic gale Jan. 15.

Standing on three stilt-like legs in open sea, No. 4 had been battered and weakened by hurricanes Daisy and Donna, and it was inclined to sway and vibrate like a tuning fork.

"There were times when the men lay in their bunks and practically cried because the thing swayed so," the sister of one of the lost crewmen has recalled.

The widow of another received a letter from her husband which said:

"I hope it (the tower) lasts long enough to get home and see you and the kids again."

It didn't.

The Air Force said the charge against Banks is that:

"Despite his knowledge of the structural condition of the tower and his receipt of the severe weather forecast, Col. Banks failed to keep himself apprised of the developing weather situation; did not maintain contact with the officers in charge of the tower and with the commander of the squadron, and failed to hold himself readily available for any action necessary in view of the developing dangerous situation at the tower."

While the Air Force pressed its inquiry into the tragedy, a Senate subcommittee collected testimony.

Castro To Receive U.S. Tractor Team

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro said early today he will receive a four-man bargaining team from the United States to work out details of swapping 1,200 captive Cuban rebels for 500 tractors.

But the bearded prime minister raised anew his alternate proposal to trade the rebels captured in

Tobin Says County Has Camp Funds

County Juvenile Court Judge Louis Tobin said today the county possesses almost $40,000 which can be used for construction of the proposed county work camp for juvenile offenders.

The judge made the statement in answer to objections by Columbiana County Commissioner Walter A. Hunston that the county would have to float a bond issue for construction of the camp and submit a levy for its operation.

Judge Tobin said:

"In 1956, the Fairmount Children's Home was sold and this county received $50,000 as its share. This money has now all been paid in. As of today, the auditor informs me there is $39,078.21 in this fund, and $10,921.61 has been spent very properly and wisely in the Kyes Children's Receiving Home in East Palestine.

"The Fairmount Children's Home money, I am told, was placed in a fund for permanent improvement. I believe Mr. Hunston knows, or should have known, that this money is available for a permanent structure such as this camp, without the necessity of new monies as far as construction is concerned. Since the money was received from the Children's Home sale, it would seem to me to be very proper to expend it on a permanent improvement to help children who clearly need help."

The hassle over the proposed camp began Tuesday when Judge Tobin accused the two GOP commissioners, Hunston and Galen Greenisen, of wrecking plans for the camp by speaking publicly against it and intimating they would not approve a resolution to place the proposal on the ballots.

Hunston replied that he was not against establishment of the camp, except from a financial standpoint, stating that the county did not have the funds to erect the camp or operate it.

The Fraternal Order of Police and FOP Associates of East Liverpool have offered to donate a 25-acre tract of land on Rt. 30 at Rock Camp for the work camp.

The camp proposal was conceived by Judge Tobin as an "intelligent method" of rehabilitating wayward youth.

Negro Stars Leave Meet

Pickets Protest Seating Segregation

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Texas had its first segregation trouble in sports Friday night and it virtually wrecked what was supposed to be the finest track and field meet in the state's history.

Twenty Negro stars, including world record holders Ralph Boston of Tennessee State and John Thomas of Boston University and four Olympians, refused to cross picket lines at the city-owned Jeppesen Stadium.

The trouble was triggered by the withdrawal of Texas Southern, a Negro university in Houston, because it charged there was segregation in the seating.

That came Thursday night and it was late Friday before the other Negroes in the meet followed suit when 30 segregation demonstrators picketed the meet.

Eldrewey J. Stearnes, director of the Progressive Youth Association, a group working for desegregation, goaded Boston and Thomas into withdrawing when he said they were insults to the Negro race for refusing to walk out.

Stearnes said heatedly that the two were "wined and dined and brainwashed into staying in the meet." Boston and Thomas both turned away from the stadium when they reached the picket line after giving no indication at a pre-meet dinner that they would not compete.

"I'm not going to go in there as long as these people are out here picketing," Thomas said.

The meet went on without the Negro athletes but there were no world or national records as had been anticipated from such stars as Boston, the great broad jumper, and Thomas, the mighty high jumper, who hold world records of 27 feet ½ inch and 7 feet 3½ inches respectively.

It was a blow to the University of Houston, which sponsors the affair—called the Meet of Champions.

Soviets Ask Laos Talks Be Resumed

GENEVA (AP)—A possible break in the deadlocked international conference on Laos appeared in the making today—at least in the talking stage.

U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman Friday delivered to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko a note President Kennedy personally approved. Then Harriman spent an hour backing it up.

American sources said Gromyko responded to the extent of expressing eagerness for going on with the 14-nation talks but he offered nothing specific in the way of compromise. British Foreign Secretary Lord Home planned to fly here from London Sunday to see Gromyko.

Students In Uruguay Denounce Stevenson

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—Adlai Stevenson faced the threat of more demonstrations today in Brazil, major trouble spot in his Latin American tour, after catching a blast here from supporters of Fidel Castro.

The chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations came under the first attack of his tour Friday night when speakers at a university rally denounced him as an "envoy of Wall Street" and demanded that he leave Uruguay.

The Uruguayan government also made clear to Stevenson—a special mission for President Kennedy—that it opposed any action against the Castro regime in Cuba. It was especially firm against armed intervention.

Stevenson was due in Rio de Janeiro in midafternoon to seek understanding with Brazil's new president, Janio Quadros, on Cuba and other issues.

U.S. officials, who have been worried by some policies of the Quadros government, are anxious to line up his support for a program to improve working conditions in Latin America.

Stevenson planned to see the Brazilian foreign minister and other officials, then fly to Sao Paulo Sunday for private discussions with Quadros.

Stevenson's associates played down the importance of Friday night's demonstrations, but it was further proof that South American sentiment, both official and private, is pretty solid against anti-Castro action.

Stevenson found this feeling both in the Venezuelan and Argentine governments and again in Uruguay.

50 Injured As Tornado Rips Kentucky Town

Church Collapses On 23 Children; Girl Is Killed Nearby

RAVENNA, Ky. (AP)—A tornado, perhaps the same one which killed a little girl south of here, ripped up Ravenna Friday, collapsing a church where 23 small children were studying the Bible.

A score of the children were injured, but none was killed.

There was no warning in this east central Kentucky community which borders on the mountain country. The black funnel just "came over the mountain and down into the town," one witness said.

About 50 Injured
In all, state police estimated about 50 or more persons were injured.

Betsy Bush, 9, was one of those in the church. Her quick wit in dropping to the floor immediately may have saved her serious injury.

"I heard it and lay down on the floor," she said. "But some of the other children were running around and screaming."

Betsy suffered only some minor bruises.

Her father, Floyd Bush, was at their home across the street when the twister hit. As he rushed out of the house, the church was collapsing and rubble was falling in on the children.

Buried Under Debris

"I never heard anything so pitiful in my life," he said of the children's screams and moans. He rushed into the ruins and found some of the children buried under mounds of brick and timber.

Some of the children, Bush said, "must have had 2,000 pounds of stuff on them."

Most of the children were taken to the Estill County Hospital at Irvine, Ravenna's sister city along the Kentucky River here. However, they later were transferred to other hospitals in this area.

A check at other hospitals failed to turn up any cases which were termed worse than fair.

The tornado which hit here was one of three, or perhaps four, which dipped into the state within hours. No witnesses at Bellpoint, where Valerie Hope Collins, 9, was killed, could verify if a funnel had been sighted.

However, there were funnels at Columbia, in south central Kentucky, and at Wide Creek, southeast of here.

If all were the same tornado, Turn to TORNADO, Page 10

Mayor Will Confer On R.R. Overpass

Mayor Dean Cranmer will meet with Housing and Home Finance Agency representatives in Chicago next Friday and attempt to clarify several points that are holding up approval of a federal loan which would help finance engineering planning for the proposed W. State St. overpass project.

The agency notified Mayor Cranmer Thursday that it can not act on the city's application for a $45,000 loan until further commitments are received from the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Ohio State Highway Department who must participate in the overpass project.

"We can not review the city's application for complete planning funds since the application does not provide necessary commitments as well as other assurances of construction," the letter from the HHF read.

The $45,000 loan being sought by the city includes $40,000 for the engineering planning and $5,000 for a sub-surface testing at the project site.

The total project has an estimated price tag of $1,280,000. It would be designed to alleviate highway-railway congestion on W. State St. so that the street would pass above the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks.

State and federal funds would finance most of the work with the railroad also co-operating. The city's cost would be about five per cent of $64,000.

Before the meeting with Finance Agency representatives in Chicago on Friday, Mayor Cranmer will meet with officials of the Ohio Highway Department and Pennsylvania Railroad to attempt to get in writing the commitments the HHF wants.

From the railroad, the mayor will try to get a written agreement that they will participate in the project and give permission

Business Recovery Continues To Roll

NEW YORK (AP)—The economic recovery rolled on during the week and expectations of more rapid improvement later in the year mounted.

The gross national product (GNP)—total of all goods and services—may be setting a record in the current quarter ending June 30.

Walter W. Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said the GNP for the quarter might reach an annual rate of nearly $510 billion. It was a little under $500 billion in the previous quarter.

Heller said that by the final quarter the rate may be $530 billion.

The National Association of Purchasing Agents reported that new orders, production and employment kept on increasing in May.

Producers of machine tools, construction equipment and other manufacturing machinery equipment predicted a good gain in sales by the fourth quarter. This was despite indications that investment for new plants and equipment is not speeding up.

The National Retail Merchants Association surveyed its membership of 11,500 department, specialty and variety stores and found high optimism about prospects for the second half of the year. The majority of merchants look for a four per cent gain in sales.

Victim Dies 2 Hours After Shotgun Blast

Killers Fire From Auto; Farah Falls In Yard of Home

Warren, Ohio (AP)—Gray-haired Mike Farah, 56, long identified with Trumbull County racketeering, died of internal bleeding today about two hours after a shotgun blast fired from an automobile cut him down while he was swinging a golf club in his back yard.

The stocky Farah, who with his brother, John, once operated the notorious Jungle Inn gambling casino, died in the emergency room of Trumbull Memorial Hospital.

At first it appeared Farah had been hit only in the legs and was not seriously wounded, but some of the pellets penetrated his side and started fatal internal bleeding.

Farah's daughter Grace, 16, was in the yard and saw the shooting. Her father was about 30 feet from the curb when two or three shots were fired from a car described as a blue 1959 or 1960 Chevrolet.

Farah crawled to the side door of his house and up a half flight of steps into the kitchen where ambulance men found him gasping for air. An oxygen mask was put on him for the two-block ride to the hospital, and this prevented his talking with the attendants who rode with him.

Some shotgun pellets chipped the bricks on Farah's house and others tore into a basement window frame.

The car sped around a corner and disappeared. Authorities said there were two men in the car, and a man in the rear seat had fired two or three times.

Farah's Jungle Inn was closed down in a raid by state liquor agents in 1949.

His latest scrape with the law involved an attack on Jean Blair, then Republican chairman of Trumbull County, in June, 1959. Farah at first was charged with assault with intent to kill, but was found guilty on a lesser charge of assault and battery. He was sentenced to four months in county jail.

After the Jungle Inn closed, Farah and his brother went separate ways. In recent years Mike Farah had referred to himself as "retired."

Kennedy's Ailing Back Getting Well

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy's doctor expressed confidence today that the President's ailing back is getting well.

But Dr. Janet Travell kept a sharp vigil over her famous patient to see that he obeyed orders.

She again directed that he get a lot of rest, swim in a heated pool and use crutches while walking about the seaside villa where he is staying.

Assistant White House press secretary Andrew T. Hatcher said it still is too early to say whether Kennedy will be on crutches when he leaves late Sunday for Washington.

"Dr. Travell is confident that the President's condition is improving," Hatcher told newsmen. "He is experiencing less discomfort."

Get well telegrams poured in. One came from Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker of Canada.

Diefenbaker said he was distressed to hear the news of Kennedy's back injury. He said he was more concerned that Kennedy should have sustained it during ceremonial tree planting in Ottawa May 16.

Kennedy wired back thanking the prime minister "for your gracious message," and added:

"The tree will be there long after the discomfort is gone."

Kennedy's condition, described as a lumbosacral strain, is said officially to be unrelated to serious back operations he underwent in 1954 and '55.

Dr. Travell recommended the use of crutches to relieve pressure on the President's back.

Lisbon Board To Air School Bond Issue

LISBON — A resolution to place the proposed $350,000 school bond issue on the ballot in November will be discussed when the Lisbon school board meets Tuesday night, according to Supt. Russell Armitage.

The bond issue for the 14-room addition at McKinley School was rejected at the primary election, and the board voted to resubmit it at the general election in November.

Other business will be transacted.

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE
Why Limit Your Possibilities?

From a recent magazine article I learned of a remarkable thing that happened years ago to a boy named Alfred Adler. The story takes added interest from the fact that in later life he became the great psychiatrist from whose work has stemmed much of our present-day understanding of inferiority complex.

Young Adler from his earliest years at school was just barely above the flunking level in mathematics. For a long time he passively accepted his failure as a misfortune he would simply have to live with, for his family and teachers assured him that he was just dumb in math. But this future pioneer in the study of personality disorders was already developing a psychiatric turn of mind. Trying to analyze his own trouble as a math student, he began to wonder whether he really had to be so backward. He got the notion that maybe he could do better. He began to conceive, or picture, himself as having the ability.

THEN ONE DAY the math professor put a problem on the blackboard which baffled even the wizards in the class. Silence reigned. Nobody ventured to chance the solution. All at once Adler saw the answer clearly pictured in his mind. He said to the professor, "I can solve it." Everybody laughed. That made him angry. It also made him hesitate an instant. But then he said to himself, "I do see it." He walked to the board, wrote out the calculations — and came up with the correct result. The class was dumbfounded!

From that day on Alfred Adler did all right in mathematics. It is wonderful what happens when a person breaks free from self-limiting obsessions. We human beings build all sorts of limitations and mistaken notions that we can't do this and we can't do that. Where do they come from—these self-limiting concepts? Painful past experiences account for some of them; but we also pick them up from other people by an insidious process of suggestion. You are lucky if you did not receive them by the dozens from your elders.

Oftentimes a whole folklore of limitation is handed down from generation to generation. You know how it goes: "How can you expect to have any ability along those lines. Neither your father nor your grandfather showed a trace of it . . ." Or: "You are not cut out for a job that carries heavy strain. Remember a tendency to nervous breakdowns runs in the family . . ." This talk conditions your mental attitudes so you conclude you may as well not even try, for you are licked before you start. Therefore you form an image of yourself as a person lacking these abilities. You think, "It's the way I am." In short you get hypnotized by that image. It becomes a psychological block limiting your success and happiness in life.

BUT DON'T BE discouraged for you can get de-hypnotized. And to do this you do not have to have, like Adler, a special flare for depth psychology. If you will turn to the great teachings of the Bible and live with them — and live by them — you will rise to a new consciousness of your true nature as a child of God. That consciousness can free you from your self-limiting ideas. You can even help other people to throw off their self-hampering attitudes.

About six years ago a woman visiting from another part of the country attended Sunday morning service at Marble Collegiate Church. She was deeply troubled about her husband. He was a problem drinker, making a mess of his life, but he couldn't be persuaded to see a counselor and get some help. Well, that Sunday in my sermon I advocated holding in mind a perfect image of anything you want to see achieved. I maintained that such an image could be a powerful force for actually bringing to pass the thing pictured.

THIS TROUBLED WOMAN immediately began trying to form a perfect image of her husband as a man not defeated by a weakness but as having all the finer qualities she had seen in him when they were younger. She saw and pictured him as God's child, with limitless possibilities. She resolved that, no matter what, she would hold that image.

The next couple of years in her life were, as she put it, hell. More than once, she thought to herself that this perfect image business must be a lot of nonsense. But she persisted in holding the image even though it seemed hopeless. Gradually her husband began to change. A new man emerged in him. Of the person he is now she says, "After six long years of many ups and downs he has taken the form of the image I held of him."

An old oriental maxim says: "What you think upon grows." You become what you image yourself as being. Get a new image of yourself as a child of God having much greater possibilities than have ever appeared. Don't self-limit your possibilities.

Whom God Hath Joined TOGETHER...

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Genesis	22	1-18
Monday	Ephesians	6	1-4
Tuesday	I Chronicles	16	23-29
Wednesday	Psalms	95	1-6
Thursday	John	4	19-24
Friday	Psalms	66	13-20
Saturday	I Timothy	3	1-5

. . . let not man put asunder.

Before the Altar of Christ they took their vows. And now God has placed another hand in theirs; a small hand, needing tenderness and guiding love.

Before the Altar of Christ they come with their child, and according to the baptismal beliefs of their church dedicate his life to God.

Before the Altar of Christ they worship each Sunday, and eagerly help their growing son to master the Truths that will undergird his life.

Of course, there are times when the responsibilities of marriage and parenthood test their patience, and understanding, and courage to sacrifice.

But they have learned long since to conquer their selfishness and surrender their pride where they receive forgiveness, strength and ever-deepening love—before the Altar of Christ.

Is There a New Eisenhower?

The famous general who never quite got the hang of partisan politics after the Republican party tapped him for the presidency in 1952 finally is learning the ropes.

Former President Eisenhower's speech to a party fund-raising dinner in Washington Thursday night was as partisan as a speech by former President Truman would have been under the same circumstances — and nothing could be more partisan than that.

Does this mean there is a new Eisenhower? Or is this the old Eisenhower, wiser now in the ways of two-party government than he was when he became executive head of the United States in 1953? ..

THE ANSWER could have heavy bearing on the two-party idea. Old-time partisanship came into such bad odor during the Eisenhower years that even Democrats boasted that they were getting along with the President better than members of his own party. And that may be what finally made Dwight Eisenhower wiser in the ways of two-party government.

It may account for his emergence as a free-swinging partisan.

He may have understood belatedly what many Americans have had trouble understanding — that the merit of two-party government is a division of opinion, to bring out both sides of public questions.

The division is only incidentally concerned with political parties — with Democrats and Republicans. Parties are only convenient ways to classify the broad groupings of voters and to provide the machinery for elections and political classification.

What matters is the right to hold a contrary opinion; a "two-opinion" system.

Relieved of the responsibilities of an office in which he played the role of a bifurcated leader — and not without success — Gen. Eisenhower has reverted to the single-mindedness of his previous military career. He has stepped into the partisan role that was open to him, whether or not Richard M. Nixon chose to share it with him.

HE HAS BECOME a spokesman for partisanship. With him as a senior statesman, with Mr. Nixon as a tested presidential candidate and with party organization whose new chairman, William E. Miller, plans to work singlemindedly on local, state and congressional contests in 1962, Republican partisanship is showing signs of more strength than it has had since the now distant days when it dominated the national scene.

There is ample room for a division of opinion about the financial character of the Kennedy administration, and this is where Gen. Eisenhower is bringing his seige guns to bear.

It would be impossible to find a more vulnerable place in the defenses of an administration whose entire pitch to date has been more spending.

Will They Call It Moondoggling

We have been reading everything within reach about getting to the moon and back, but this is not an idea that can be assimilated like a marshmallow. It takes chewing and digesting.

Small Debt

Theatrical appraisals of George S. Kaufman as a personality in the mixed world of the theater are at variance with one another. Some people didn't care for him.

But there was no disagreement about his contribution to the theater. It was substantial. The things he did by himself and in collaboration with other brilliant authors made theatrical history.

Revivals of his satire on national politics, "Of Thee I Sing," seem as timely and topical as they did in 1931. "You Can't Take It With You" will be a theatrical fantasy as long as there are actors and audiences. "The Solid Gold Cadillac" was a trademarked Kaufman spoof on manners.

It is true to say it—but our era needs Kaufman. It stands in grave danger of losing its individuality to the gray flannel mouths that make the same noises, warn against the same bogeymen and give lip service to the same causes, some of which never had any justification in the first place.

It's a shame George Kaufman ran out of rancor, whimsy and time. All of us owe him a small debt of gratitude.

Gymnasium Problem

The Salem High School gymnasium probably isn't the most comfortable place to hold commencement exercises, but you'll have to admit it's roomy.

A few, typical complaints were heard from people attending the 97th annual graduation program Thursday night about the hard seats of the roll-away bleachers. Others said the place was too hot.

Nearly 1,600 persons were accommodated twice the number that could be seated at the Junior High auditorium, although it must be admitted the seats there have back rests. Basketball fans never complain about the gymnasium bleachers. They're the more hardy type. But hold some other type of program in the high school gymnasium and you'll hear grumbles here and there.

The solution would be expensive. It would take several hundred thousand dollars to add an auditorium to the high school.

Once Over

A letter to Diana Cullom Davis, whose father reportedly demands a $3.8 million trust fund, created for her in her infancy, be given through him to Princeton:

Dear Diana, I hope you take General Grant's slogan "I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer" in your belief that a trust fund is a trust fund, not a bingo setup, a wheel of chance or something stamped "Good only until further notice." Chances are it will be an upset if any court decides the test of a young girl's reasonability is whether she will happily give almost four million dollars to a college with a cheery "Daddy says money is bad for me."

In your place I would not even make a compromise offer to give three cheers for Old Nassau. It looks like you will have to fight, which can be an advantage since Princeton will not like the prospect of having to play Yale, Harvard and Diana Davis all in one season.

I DON'T DIG papa's statement that you "have not lifted a finger to earn the trust fund and have no moral right to its disposition. It proves too much money goes to the heads of young people." It is news to most people that to keep a trust fund you have to earn it, or even lift an eyebrow; otherwise you are present but not voting when veto is proposed.

Your father is also quoted as saying, own country for decades—man has been looking for something to do that won't get done before he is ready to start something else. Even the biggest things man has tackled, like the St. Lawrence Seaway, Hoover Dam, the Panama Canal and the interstate highway program run out of steam so fast they catch the busy doers with no alternatives when the work tapers off.

This could be the merit of the "Moondoggle." It should be called that because it has the vital elements of economic dogging, a technique that came to flower in the '30s when the search was on for work that couldn't be finished in the foreseeable future.

Moondoggling could not be finished before the 21st century, even if either the United States, or the Soviet Union, or both—or more likely the ingenious Japanese—learned how to get to the moon and back before 1970. There still would be the unfinished business of colonizing the place, converting the environment to something earthier, with Neon signs and motels, and starting regular transportation service to and fro, the way it always has been when men staked out new frontiers and assumed everybody would want to go there.

This would take so many man-hours at so much an hour and much more than that for cvertime that no one could see the end. Just peeking at it from here, experts are talking about billions just to get the thing into the study stage. Everybody can take a hand in moon-studying.

If moondoggling comes up to its potentialities, no one should have to worry about what to do for a generation. There always will be the moon to get to and back, now that everything else seems to have been done. And if the moondoggle runs out of steam we still will have Mercury, Venus, Mars, Saturn, Jupiter, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto. They should keep men busy for the next million years.

"Now my daughter has a lawyer and it appeals me." This makes me feel that you need not only a lawyer, but a few guides, guards, economic advisers, judo teachers and luck charms.

Stick it out, Diana. It would rock people widely if it came to pass that trust funds could be called off on account of rain, transferred by pushbutton and pronounced bad beneficiaries.

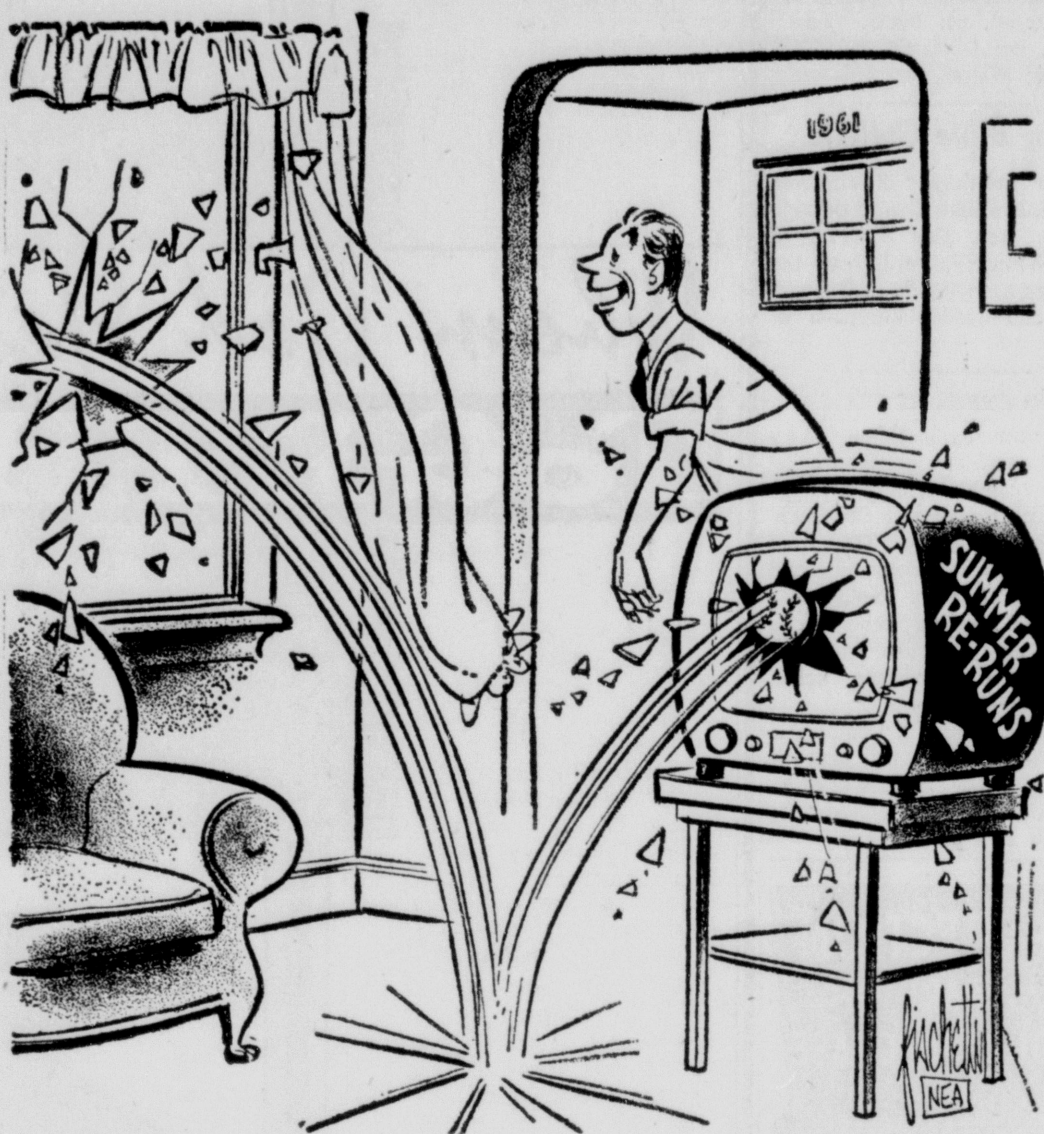

Good Luck, ELMER

P.S. Can Princeton prove it lifted a finger to earn this dough? Or that it won't go to its head, especially if it helps put it out in front of Yale and Harvard?

MAYOR WAGNER of New York and 23 aides put on two lengthy TV shows in defense of administration. More people were put to sleep by it than any program in airwave history. Not that it wasn't well done. Fact is that TV is generally regarded as a medium for entertainment, relaxation and excitement. Listening to any burgo-master and staff explain troubles for two hours is like going to a circus to watch a pinocchio game.

Only chance Mayor Wagner had was to wear LaGuardia's old sombrero, shoot from hip and hold audience by offering jackpot prizes. Program should have been called "Mystery of the Burgomaster and the Slow Boil," or, according to Republicans, "The Too Late, Late Show."

'Don't Run Away, Kids! Thanks!'

U.S. In Anti-Red Mood

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.

WASHINGTON — Some informed politicians here are finding a surprisingly strong and aggressive anti-Soviet atmosphere among their constituents, stemming from "a national sense of embarrassment."

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., the author of that quotation, went a good deal further in an interview:

"The people are ready for anything, even for war. The series of international setbacks that we have suffered, starting with the humiliation of the U-2 incident last year, extending through the long period of retreat in Laos, the fiasco of Cuba, the stoning of American ambassadors, the jailing of American airmen, all these things have led to an increasing grimness among the American people. "I find it revealed in my mail, in talks with my local political leaders, in conversations with people around the country."

Sen. Scott was one of the spearheads of President Kennedy's political opposition during the campaign last year.

THE CHAIRMAN of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., found an almost identical reaction in his district. Rep. Morgan said the average citizen "is alarmed about our reverses abroad and ready for a strong reaction."

"Whatever President Kennedy

might decide to do to guarantee our commitments in Berlin will, I am confident, have solid support here at home," Rep. Morgan said.

Vice President Johnson, rested from his round-the-world diplomatic tour, struck a somewhat similar theme in a speech he made to East Kentucky College in Richmond, Ky. The President, he said, would warn Premier Khrushchev that the United States "has no intention of yielding to diplomatic blackmail."

"No greater blunder can be made by any leader than to discount the strength of the free," the vice president said.

POLITICIANS of all persuasion, with one conspicuous exception, appeared in substantial agreement with the vice president's hope that "at least a brave beginning in the search for peace may come from the President's labors in Europe."

The exception was Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., who saw circumstances in the Vienna confrontation "that reek with a disturbing air of calculated, secret scheming." The scheme, he said, is a secret agreement between the two powers on the atom-test ban, an agreement that would be "a deadly trap for the free world."

Other senators also said that the President could count on the solid support of the people in any posture-hardening he may undertake.

But Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., were somewhat more equivocal than Sen. Scott about the temper of the country.

Sen. Cooper said the initial reaction to the Cuban adventure had been "high anger" and "a wish to strike out and do something." Now, he said, this has faded, to be replaced by a mood of questioning and reflection.

SEN. AIKEN SAID he too, had discovered an almost violently aggressive reaction as a result of Cuba, but that it did not extend to Southeast Asia in the same degree.

On the question of Berlin, there was no quarrel with the reported agreement of President Kennedy and President de Gaulle to use force if necessary to preserve the freedom of Berlin.

But Sen. Scott went further. Even if the president should decide that military intervention were needed in Laos, he said, the American people would back him.

"The question now is not, if we do that, will we get into war? Instead, people are saying that we've got to do something to stop the other side."

Our Voteless Millions

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Eight Million Denied Right To Cast Ballot

Shortly after the 1960 election I wrote and published two articles pointing out the grave injustice suffered by eight million voters who wanted to vote but were barred by the unreasonable election laws of the states.

In response to those articles I had more letters from readers than I had received on any one subject in years. Many of these told of the writer's own difficulties which had barred him from voting.

Now, five months later, I doubt whether I shall get half a dozen letters on the subject.

Why? Because the indignation of Americans about an injustice has a way of cooling off very fast. But little or nothing has been done to remedy the situation, and in 1962 and 1964 the same deplorable situation will prevail, perhaps made greater because there will be more eligible voters and the American population will grow more mobile.

It is like the old story of people who think about repairing the roof only when it is raining and forget it when the sun comes out.

Sen. Kenneth Keating of New York has not forgotten, and in a speech on the Senate floor on May 15 he stated the problem very well and outlined the various ways in which a solution might be found.

What makes it so difficult is that the residence requirements in the states vary so greatly. Also, many states have frozen the residence requirements into their constitutions, and the possibility of federal action to secure uniformity is doubtful because of the Constitution of the United States.

TO SAVE SPACE, I shall limit my comments to the voting qualifications for president of the United States.

In most states, eligibility for voting for presidential electors is the same as that for electing the lowest ranking local officers. A few states have made a distinction, waiving all or part of the legal residence requirements for voting for presidential electors. Those states are Wisconsin, California, Missouri, Ohio, and Oregon.

There are reasons, and good ones, for requiring some term of residence for voting for local officers because in making a choice among such candidates, a voter should have some familiarity with local conditions.

To a degree, that rule is a reasonable one for voting for representatives and senators in Congress. But it has no relevance to voting for president.

One way to bring the matter to attention and possibly early solution before the 1964 election would be an amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

This would be necessary because the Constitution now says, "Each State shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors."

It has been suggested by a report to the Governors' Conference that state legislatures might under this constitutional provision override the provisions of their own constitutions and fix a shorter residence requirement for presidential electors. But some governors object to that.

AS THINGS STAND, the hope is that a number of the larger and more progressive states might take advantage of the power in their legislatures either to override their own constitutions or, in the absence of such constitutional provisions, fix a short term of residence — say six weeks — for voting for presidential electors.

To accomplish this would require action by governors and state election officials (who themselves have national associations), with the active pressure of the private associations dedicated to better government.

Clearly, a great majority of the eight million people now denied their right to vote for president are not old-style "floaters" but business executives, educators, skilled workmen and others who are constantly being shifted from one state or community to another.

One company alone which does a national business estimates that six per cent of its executive personnel because business changes required changes of residence.

Public opinion, expressed through its articulate spokesmen, should demand action on this injustice before another presidential election. Let's get after our members of Congress, our members of legislatures, and our state officials.

Itching For Space Trip

By JOAN DARK

OKLAHOMA CITY — Jerrie Cobb, who may become America's first woman astronaut, is itching to get into outer space.

At the first conference on peaceful uses of space held recently in Tulsa, Miss Cobb sidled up to a full-scale model of the Mercury capsule which put Alan Shepard into space. She patted it fondly and said: "I'd like to be in one of these right now."

Perhaps the most startling thing is that this is the sincere wish of the 30-year-old blonde, professional pilot. She was the first woman to volunteer for the physical and psychological tests patterned on those given project Mercury's astronauts.

Miss Cobb, who wears her hair in a pony-tail style, may be getting a chance for space travel sooner than most people might think.

At the Tulsa Space Conference, James E. Webb, Chief of National Aeronautics and Space Administration, announced that she will be called to Washington as consultant.

THOUGH NASA has no program for training and using women astronauts, Dr. W. Randolph Lovelace, director of the Lovelace Foundation for Medical Education and Research, said 20 women pilots as potential members of future space crews are undergoing tests for physical fitness and competence at his Albuquerque, N. M., foundation. This is not a government program.

Jerrie took 87 tests at Albuquerque in February 1960 and since then she has taken other tests of endurance and stress.

In September she set a fourth world aviation record, for light twin engine planes made by the company in Oklahoma City for which she works as sales promotion and advertising director. The records set were altitude, non-stop distance, speed and altitude.

Also in September, she spent over nine hours floating in a tank of warm water at Veterans Administration Hospital, Oklahoma City, deprived of all senses in a dramatic sensory deprivation-isolation test. The psychiatrist giving the test, Dr. Jay Shurley, reported that she "excelled in the test of loneliness."

Jerrie, who has been flying since she was 12, and professionally since she was 18, predicts that men and women will make space flights together. She thinks women may fly first as passengers, then as space pilots.

Jerrie, who has logged over 8,000 hours, hopes that the United States will orbit a woman before Russia does and is confident that an American woman will be first. She is frank to state that she'd like to be the first though she is just as eager to stress that women will not compete with men in space flight.

SHE HAD A DEEP feeling of humility after Dr. Lovelace announced at a Science Congress in Sweden last August that she was the first woman to be physically qualified for space flight. She said then, "I wish it was possible to go tomorrow."

Jerrie says that the tests proved women are less susceptible to radiation, can withstand heat, pain, noise and vibration better and are less prone to cardiovascular diseases. Psychologists agree that women are more stable emotionally and can withstand boredom better. All of these factors, of course, are involved in lonely space flight.

Jerrie, who enjoys reading and cooking in her large rambling house in Oklahoma City when she isn't traveling, says "I can't imagine anyone not wanting to go into space." This new type of pioneer in the space age sees a definite role for women in future space travel, she regards the giant step into space as a real challenge and "wonderful opportunity."

Friends are convinced that she has no fear of the unknown (and her serenity is strongly linked to her religion, they feel) and they believe her when she says, "When the time comes, my feeling will be of joy and anticipation."

Joyce Chuck Is Bride Of State Patrolman

Observing all the familiar traditions, Miss Joyce A. Chuck carried a lace handkerchief she recently received from a pen-pal in England when she became the bride of M. Thomas Butts Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the Jerusalem Lutheran Church in Columbiana.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Chuck of West Point, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Tod Butts of Austintown.

A half hour of nuptial music preceded the ceremony at which Rev. A. A. Anderson, pastor, officiated for the double ring service before an altar background of palms and ferns enhanced with vases of white gladioli and pom poms and seven branch candelabra. White satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of chantilly lace and nylon tulle fashioned with fitted basque bodice of lace with scalloped bateau neckline and long pointed sleeves. In floor length, the bouffant skirt of tulle ruffles featured an over skirt of tulle with bands of the chantilly lace.

A queen's coronet of crystal held her veil of imported silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias and fleur-de-Amour with a shower of white satin picot streamers.

Mrs. Patricia Skero of Wyano, Pa., cousin of the bride, was the matron of honor. Her gown of silk organza over satin in pink was styled with a bouffant skirt and pleated cummerbund, she wore a floral headpiece with matching veil and carried a crescent bouquet of painted daisies and roses in blue.

Miss Donna Chuck was her sister's bridesmaid and was attired in a gown styled identically to that of the matron of honor, with matching floral headpiece and veil. Her crescent bouquet was of pink daisies and roses. The pearl necklaces, earrings and white gloves they wore were gifts of the bride.

Charles Fraysier of Cortland served as the best man, and Greg Horn of Youngstown ushered.

The mother of the bride chose a lavender silk dress with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a gray and white print dress with matching accessories, and each complemented her attire with corsages of pink roses.

A reception for 200 followed in the church social room. A four-tiered wedding cake surrounded with flowers complemented the buffet table which carried out a pink and white color scheme. Mrs. Victor Dukes, aunt of the bride, served the cake. Miss Patricia Barborak presided at the silver coffee service and Mrs. Jean Ann Cook at the punch bowl.

Mrs. Sandra Chuck, the bride's sister-in-law, registered guests from Cortland, Youngstown, Warren, Austintown, Salem, Columbiana, West Point and Lisbon.

For her wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride wore a powder blue summer dress with white accessories and her bridal corsage.

Mrs. Butts is a 1959 graduate of Beaver Local High School and was employed as a clerk in the County Court at Lisbon.

Her husband is a 1955 graduate of South High School in Youngstown and is an Ohio State Highway patrolman recently transferred from Lisbon to the barracks at Swanton.

The bridegroom's parents entertained the bridal party at their home Friday evening following the rehearsal.

The couple will reside in Swanton.

"We install GAS heating systems in every new home we build* . . . and we build about 8 homes each year. Gas heated homes are a lot easier to sell . . . because they're more practical — more economical to heat, better to live in."

ZILAVY CONSTRUCTION COMPANY
ED. and GENE

To give home-buyers the most for their money...

You can't beat GAS heat for economy. Dollar for dollar GAS heat is the best buy. Costs only about 1/4 as much as wired heat — and doesn't require excessive insulation.

You can't beat GAS heat for cleanliness. GAS burns clean — no smoke, soot, or dirt. A forced air system circulates the air in your home, filters it, removes dust and pollen, and reheats the cleaned air for constant, even warmth.

You can't beat GAS heat for dependability. Throughout last winter's record cold spells, GAS heat users were comfortably warm. A flick of the thermostat to the desired temperature did the trick — without fear of interrupted service due to winds or ice.

You can't beat GAS heat for healthful living. Heating with some fuels means sealing your home so tightly that you breathe stale air, but a GAS heating system provides for normal air change. This brings in fresh air automatically. GAS HEAT PROVIDES A HEALTHFUL, FRESH-AIR ATMOSPHERE.

You can't beat GAS heat for modernity. With a GAS forced air system a house is half way to year 'round air conditioning. Conversion to summer cooling using existing furnace ducts is simple and quick. Often there's no costly remodeling or construction. Nothing else provides the advantages of GAS . . . at such a low cost.

Call or write us now for this useful, fact-filled booklet which will answer all your home heating questions.

Phillips' Homer Gives Indians 5-4 Win Over Tigers

Latman Gets Victory in Relief

Tribe Leads AL By 1 1/2 Games Now

DETROIT (AP)—"If being relaxed makes a good baseball team, we'll be good all season," said Jimmy Dykes as he lit one expensive cigar off another in the Cleveland clubhouse. "We're free-wheeling it and we're not worrying about anything."

The Indians had just increased their lead over second-place Detroit to a game and a half with a 5-4 victory, and Dykes called the man who won the game "the most relaxed player on the team."

Bubba Phillips won Friday night's game with a ninth inning home run off Paul Foytack after the Indians had piddled away a 4-1 lead.

"Nothing bothers him," said Dykes. "He's done a lot of traveling in baseball and he's been in and out of a lot of lineups and played anywhere they put him."

I made up my mind a long time ago he was my third baseman and he hasn't done anything to make me want to change my mind."

The Indians, trailing the second-place Tigers 1-0, banged across four runs in the third inning on two hits, a walk and Willie Kirkland's home run and then saw the lead trickle away as the Tigers pecked at starter Bobby Locke.

The Tigers drew even in the fifth. They routed Locke with two singles and a walk that scored one run. Barry Latman took over for Locke with two on and one out and gave up a double by Rocky Colavito that tied the score 4-4.

That was the only hit the Tigers got off the big reliever, who was making his 8th relief appearance, and he gained his fifth triumph without a loss.

"There's another guy who makes this team tick," said Dykes pointing to Latman. "When you get into trouble, you signal for him in the bullpen and in five or six pitches he's ready to come in and bail you out. And he's got a lot of help down there. Those bullpen guys have kept us up there."

Latman, Frank Funk and Bob Allen have combined for 14 victories against only three defeats. Relaxation is Key

"Relaxation is the key to it," said Dykes. "I just tell them not to worry what the other teams are doing. In fact, I tell them to go out on the field and relax and not to worry about the ball game. I don't mean I want them to be lazy and indifferent—I just don't want them fretting about one little thing and another. Worrying will drive players crazy—and what do you think that'll do to a manager?"

Gary Bell (4-4) faces Detroit's Jim Bunning (4-5) in today's game.

Cleveland 004 000 001—5 9 1
Detroit 100 120 000—4 8 1

United Little League

Winona, East Rochester and Franklin Township team posted victories Friday night in the United Little League.

Winona played at Kensington and dumped their hosts 15 to 1. Marty Briceland was the winning pitcher, with 12 strikeouts to his credit. Hartman, Lance, Brice-land and Jewell each hit doubles for the winners.

New Alexander fell to East Rochester 19 to 6 when the boys from Rochester scattered 16 well-placed hits. Mile Ray was the winning pitcher. Critchfield starred for the winners, rapping off two doubles and a triple. Chambers and Brothers doubled.

Franklin Township shaded Hanoverton 2 to 1 in a closely-fought game at Hanoverton. Mile Pearson was the winning pitcher with 10 strikeouts. Laighlin doubled twice for Franklin while Gruszewski hit one double for Hanoverton.

Miss Wright Takes Lead In Tourney

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. (AP)—The lead has switched from Marlene Hagge to Kathy Cornelius to Mickey Wright in the first three rounds of the mathematical nightmare called the Womens Round Robin Golf Tournament.

As the 16 contestants in the five-round event started their fourth round today, Miss Wright had a slim 6-point lead over Patty Berg, with Louise Suggs, Kathy Whitworth and Mrs. Cornelius tied for third, four points farther back.

The long-driving Miss Wright had accumulated plus 22 points in the three rounds, with Miss Berg at 16 and the other three at 12.

The title is won not on the medal score, but on the points won. Each player meets each other player in medal play once during the five rounds so if one player in a foursome has a 70 and the other three have 72's the 70 player picks up six points and the other three each registers minus two.

Six players scored one-under-par 71's for the third round Friday afternoon, and only three were able to equal par figures for the morning round of the hazy, damp day.

The 71 shooters were Miss Suggs, Miss Whitworth, Miss Berg, Betty Jameson, Marilyn Smith and Betsy Rawls.

Don Drysdale pitched a four-hitter for his first victory in a month Friday night as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Philadelphia 3-1 and regained a half-game lead over Cincinnati in the National League race. St. Louis beat the Reds 8-4.

San Francisco twice came from behind for a 9-6 victory over Pittsburgh, and the Chicago Cubs defeated Milwaukee 11-10.

Duren Sets Record

In the American League, Cleveland gained a 1 1/2-game lead over second place Detroit by beating the Tigers 5-4. New York defeated Kansas City 8-6, Washington swept a two-night pair from the Chicago White Sox, 1-0, in 10 innings, and 10-9, and Boston split a two-night twinbill with Los Angeles. The Red Sox won the opener 5-3, then lost 5-1 to the Angels as Ryne Duren struck out seven in a row for an AL record. The Minnesota-Baltimore game was rained out.

Wally Moon's 11th home run, tie for the Dodgers in the fourth inning against right-hander Frank Sullivan (2-7). Don Demeter, an ex-Dodger, had two of the Phils' hits, driving in their run with a fourth inning double. Drysdale (4-3) walked three and struck out seven for his first complete game since beating the Phils 5-2 in a five-inning game May 9. The Cards, winning four in a row for the first time and climbing back to .500 with 13 victories in their last 20 games, built a decisive, 5-3 lead against the Reds with a three-run third inning. Ken Boyer's single drove in two, and Stan Musial brought in the winner against lefty Jim O'Toole (5-6). Bob Gibson (3-3) was the winner.

Homer Stops Bucs

San Francisco overhauled the Pirates on a three-run homer by Ed Bailey that capped a six-run seventh inning. It came after Bobby Shantz had come in as Pittsburgh's third pitcher, but tagged the loss on Elroy Face (2-3). Ed Bolin won his first in the majors, in relief. Bailey drove in four of the Giants' runs and Orlando Cepeda, the NL's home run leader, knocked in three, one with his 16th homer.

The Cubs, blew 6-0 and 9-6 leads as the Braves' unloaded four home runs, then came from behind to beat Warren Spahn for the first time in nine decisions since June 10, 1958. A single by Moe Thacker brought in the clincher and handed Spahn (6-6) his second loss in two days, this one in relief. Joe Torre, Joe Adcock, Ed Mathews and Lee Maye homered for the Braves, with Maye's a grand slam in the ninth that gave Milwaukee a 10-9 lead. Bob Anderson (3-5) won it in relief.

Champ Favored 8-5 to 2-1

Archie Moore Defends Title Tonight Against Rinaldi

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—A sleek if aging Archie Moore gets down to business tonight in defense of his piece of the light heavyweight title against young, husky Giulio Rinaldi of Italy.

Moore Hopes for KO in 5th

If the graying, 44 1/2-year-old marvel hasn't lost too much in the battle of the scales and with father time, he figures to knock out the Italian from Anzio within five rounds of their scheduled 15-rounder at Madison Square Garden. Rinaldi is 26.

Archie's vitality is the only question mark in this television scrap. If he's got enough left it will be arriverderci Giulio—and early. Moore is favored at odds ranging from 8-5 to 2-1.

This will be Moore's ninth defense of the title he won 8 1/2 years ago and his first since he flattened crude but powerful Yvon Durelle of Canada at Montreal 22 months ago. He weighed 174 1/2 pounds for that return fight. Since then the National Boxing Association has stripped him of his title. He is recognized by New York, Massachusetts and Europe.

Moore, holder of the world record of 130 knockouts, has flattened his last six challengers in title fights. Only Joey Maxim has gone the distance with him at the 175-pound division limit.

The strong-armed, master boxer and puncher wrested the crown from Maxim at St. Louis Dec. 17, 1952 on a lop-sided decision.

Rinaldi, solidly built and deep-chested, earned his big chance by outpointing Moore in a 10-round in the Olympic Sports Palace in Rome, last Oct. 29. Moore was a plump 190 1/2 to Rinaldi's 181 1/2.

Although Moore was given a mandatory eight-count while leaning back against the ropes in the last round, Rinaldi was awarded the verdict by only a slim margin.

The black-haired Italian, who was only one-year-old when Archie started boxing pro a quarter-century ago, has a 25-5 record with eight knockouts. He is the Italian light heavyweight champion.

After his victory—even if disputed and close—he has to be conceded a chance to beat the old man. But Giulio has not shown to advantage in his workouts here.

Displays Little Power

He has displayed little power and appears wide-open. If he presses Archie—as he must to win—and leaves an opening, it could be disastrous.

"He can't punch hard when he's going back," said Giulio. "I noticed that in my fight with him and I saw what Rocky Marciano and Floyd Patterson did to him when I watched the films. They pressed him and they knocked him out. I think I can too."

"All I hope is that he comes after me like he says he will," said Moore.

Scoring will be by the rounds system. A supplementary point system also will be used to help break draws.

Although the fight will be shown on television in the city as well as coast-to-coast, garden officials expect to attract a crowd of 10,000 at a gross gate of $50,000 at prices ranging from $3 to $15. The big money comes from TV, which is paying $150,000.

Moore has been guaranteed $100,000 plus $12,000 expenses. Rinaldi will collect $25,000 plus expenses.

TRAIL RIDES PLANNED

The Paradise Ranch and the Triple B Ranch, owned and operated by Kenneth Oyer and Don Biddle on Cream Ridge Rd. near Elkton are combining their efforts for a big trail ride June 24 and 25. It will cover approximately 7,000 acres of open range riding. The rides will take place at 9 a.m. both mornings.

Lack of Time Forces Temporary Layoff

Salem Polo Club Suspends Operations for This Season

By BOB JULIAN
The Salem Polo Club, an organization that has operated faithfully for 26 years, with the exception of the war years, will not be in action this season, according to Lloyd Brunner of Salem, co-manager of the club.

BRUNNER, who has been coordinator of the club for many years, disclosed, "I believe that because of the limited time that I have to put into the organization it is best not to field a team this year. We hope to be in operation next year and give the Salem and area polo fans a successful team."

"The keeping of the field and other facilities takes a great deal of time," Brunner said, "and to do justice to the organization I just won't be able to do it this year."

The Penn-Ohio Polo League of which Salem was a member along with Darlington, Pa., Youngstown (Mahoning Valley), Cleveland, Columbus Harbor Hills (now El Rancho Club) and Beaver Valley, Pa., has disbanded. Brunner cited the fact that the league folded because no one wanted to take the initiative to promote polo in the northeastern Ohio area.

IN JANUARY of this year a new league was formed, the Mid-Western Polo League, of which the Salem Polo Club is a charter member, along with Cleveland, Mahoning Valley, Toledo, El Rancho Club of Columbus, Columbus Farms, Cincinnati, Lexington, Ky., St. Louis, Mo. and Beaver Valley.

The new league is a member of the National Polo Association which has its headquarters in New York City. The Penn-Ohio loop never was affiliated with the national group.

Three former Salem players, that probably will be back with the local club next year, Jimmy Bahr of Akron, Jack Arnold of Akron and Joe Botak of Youngstown are playing with the Columbus Farms aggregation for this year. Leroy Wells of Poland is playing with the Mahoning Valley team, Phil Thompson of Columbiana, co-manager with Brunner and Brunner are sitting this season out. All three were members of the Salem club last year.

SALEM JOINED the new league with the stipulation that it would stay out for one year, Brunner said.

Bahr and Thompson served as co-captains for the local team last year.

The Salem Club played all of its home games at the Fernengel Farms field on N. Ellsworth Rd. last year as in past years.

Mayor

to put the grade separation over the railroad tracks on the west side of the city.

From the State Highway Department, the mayor wants to get an ordinance drawn up for City Council's approval. This ordinance, in effect, would say that the state will include the project on its 1961-62 biennium and that the city will pay for its share of the project.

The mayor will also attempt to get from the state a "target date" for starting construction of the overpass.

He says he is most concerned about getting an early target date set since plans for the project have to be approved by both the state and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads before the project can be sold.

If either the state or the Federal Bureau of Public Roads raises questions on the plans, the target date could be thrown back another 30 to 60 days, Mayor Cranmer explained.

However, the major problem the mayor has to deal with between now and his meeting in Chicago Friday is this:

The housing and Home Finance Agency says it won't approve the $45,000 loan to the city until the state says exactly when and how it plans to proceed with the project; and the state insists it can't say when it will begin work on the project until after final planning is completed—and that's why the city is trying to borrow the $45,000 in the first place.

"This is as bad as trying to get a loan on a GI house," the mayor remarked.

THE PRINCESS AND HER PRINCE? — Rumor has it that is another royal romance brewing between Princess Alexandra of Kent and 27-year-old Baron O'Neill. Alexandra, who is a cousin of the Queen, is the only unmarried or not yet spoken for member of the royal family. If things work out for the popular princess, she would become mistress of her Prince Charming's ancestral Shanes Castle near Belfast.

Tornado

it would have made a giant — turn, looping around the fringe of the hill country. The Weather Bureau said this was quite possible.

Was Visiting Grandfather

The Collins girl, whose home is at Newport, was visiting her grandfather, Brad Collins. She was killed when a partially constructed church collapsed in the high wind.

Her uncle, Daniel Collins, and some other children at the scene were only bruised. Officials said the Collins girl tried to run and was hit by a falling beam.

The tornado here opened its havoc by tearing the roof from the Louisville & Nashville Railroad roundhouse on the edge of town. Then it acted like a mammoth ice cream scoop, cutting across the business and residential areas of the town.

In the tornados wake came sunny skies and a glorious double rainbow—and misery for the 1,100 residents of the town.

An Army reserve unit was ordered to help with the cleanup; and to prevent looting.

Estill County Judge W. M. No land estimated the damage here at a million dollars. The damage at Wide Creek, Bellpoint and Columbia wasn't estimated.

her claims for material indemnification."

Castro has insisted repeatedly during his overtures that the exchange should be on a "freedom for freedom" basis.

Castro insisted he had no ulterior motive in suggesting that Mrs. Roosevelt and Dr. Eisenhower come to Cuba to take a personal hand in the negotiations.

The freedom committee said its bargaining team will fly from Miami, Fla., Monday at 2:30 p.m. EST on a regularly scheduled flight and indicated newsmen could go along. The plane ordinarily flies empty to Havana to pick up passengers for Miami.

Your Vision's Okay; Those Are Deer, Dear

Mrs. E. C. Detimore of 1253 Mound St. thought her sight was playing tricks on her this morning at 7:30.

So she awoke her husband, Edwin, who confirmed what she saw. She also summoned her daughter, Mary Alice, 18, to behold the spectacle.

Two deer were cavorting in their back yard. They were young animals, one bearing a set of antlers.

The deer probably strayed from a small orchard located near the house.

They were sighted at about the same time by Don Hays of 917 S. Union Ave.

BIKE THEFT REPORTED

Burton Sutter of 1266 E. Pershing St. reported to police that someone took his son's bicycle from in front of his home Wednesday.

Teachers

to do some traveling. A visit to California is already planned and maybe later there will be a trip to Europe.

MISS LEHMAN is retiring after 35 years as a teacher and school librarian. Her first teaching job came when she was only 19 years old. Although she never had lived in the open country, Miss Lehman was hired to teach agriculture to eight grades in a combined one-room school near Mansfield.

She came to Salem and taught in the second grade at Prospect for one year at the same time Mrs. Peterson was there. Miss Lehman also taught one year in Beloit before being named librarian at Salem High School, a position she has held for the past 32 years.

Miss Lehman planned and developed both the junior and senior high school libraries, starting out in a small corner of one of the study halls at the building which is now the Junior High.

Indications are that after so many years of dedicated work as a librarian, Miss Lehman may find it difficult to completely retire from this line of work. She believes she may work part-time somewhere in a public library. Her plans for the future are indefinite, but she may eventually move to San Antonio, Tex., where her sister lives.

MRS. DEMERS taught school for 29½ years, but only the last three in Salem. Most of her teaching career was spent in the state of New York.

She has lived in the Salem area for five years, having taught for two years at Goshen Union in Damascus before coming here to teach at Fourth Street.

Mrs. DeMers says she now plans to become a fulltime housewife. Her husband, Emery DeMers, is manager of the Lyle Printing & Publishing Co.

Mrs. Mubach who has taught grammar and literature to Salem High School students for the past 17 years, is retiring after 27 years in the teaching profession.

A native of St. Louis, Mrs. Mubach taught in the school system there for 10 years before coming to Salem.

"I'm retiring because I don't want to do anything," Mrs. Mubach remarked with a smile when asked about her plans for the future. However, her many students here knew her as a great lover of the theater and she can be expected to use some of the newly found spare time to catch up on the stage plays she has been wanting to see.

Paul E. Smith, superintendent of schools, commenting on the retirement of the four teachers, said, "We have appreciated the contributions they have made to the public schools of Salem over a period of years. Their services and contributions are typical of the devotion of the real teacher."

West Eighth Grade Pupils Are Promoted

EAST ROCHESTER—"Setting a Goal for Success in Life and Education: the Road Toward that Goal" was the topic of guest speaker, Rev. Ralph Chambers, pastor of East Rochester Methodist church, at West Elementary school when 49 eighth graders received certificates of promotion. Haskell Paulding, superintendent of Minerva schools, also spoke.

Musical selections under the direction of John Shaffer were presented.

After the introduction of the eighth grade students by Principal, Joseph Deagan, Donald Wagner, clerk of the Minerva school district, issued the promotion certificates.

Recipients of the Donald Stafford awards were Richard Sarver, James Frederick and Nancy Zawgg. Courtesy awards went to Nancy Zawgg and Robert George.

Recovery

sales and a five per cent increase in profits.

The First National City Bank of New York commented that the industrial performance in the last two months has "erased any lingering doubts that the economy is in a very encouraging rebound from recession lows." Dr. Marcus Nader, economic consultant to the Hanover Bank of New York, said he expects a "moderate recovery" but that "no major boom is in the making."

With labor contract negotiations nearing in the automobile industry, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler omitted the usual annual raises June 1 for 138,000 salaried employees not covered by union contracts.

Automobile production moved up during the week to an estimated 128,000 passenger cars. This was only 8.7 per cent below the comparable 1960 week, one of the year's slimmest margins.

The industry was particularly happy about sales in May. The 537,825 cars sold was the biggest monthly total of the year. This brought dealers' new car stocks down to about 900,000, lowest since last October.

Harold C. Lumb, vice president of Republic Steel Corp., predicted steel production will increase steadily and should approach record heights in the next year.
